COURT SENTENCES PAROLE VIOLATOR

Marion Man Sent to Penitentiary Following Arrest on Check Charge

John Burns 35 of 225 Leader street was sentenced to a term of one to 20 years in the Ohio penitentiary today when he was brought before Judge Hector S Young in common pleas court accused of violating a parole on a forgery charge

Burns was arrested last night on a complaint of the management at the Richman Bros clothing store that he passed a worthless check in part payment for a suit of clothes

Burns had been given a suspended sentence and paroled for one year by Judge Young last February when he pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery in connection with passing questionable checks. He admitted passing the check at the Richman store Prosecuting Attorney Paul D Michel said.

DECISION DUE ON MILK PRICE HERE TONIGHT

Dairymen Get Final Demand for Increase from Producers

MAY TRY 1 MONTH TEST

One Cent Retail Boost Regarded Certain If Wholesale Raise Is Granted

Representatives of a majority of Marion county farmers furnishing the city's milk supply made a final demand to dairies for higher raw milk prices last night

A decision by the dairies is due tonight

Should the increase be granted a one-cent a quart rise in retail price of milk will be almost inevitable dairymen said

The farmers demands were laid before dairymen at a meeting last night with the directors of the Marion County Milk Producers association in the county commissioners office The association membership includes nearly all of the 300 farmers furnishing the city's milk supply

Throughout the meeting it was evident that if farmers requirements are met or even partially satisfied the retail price of a quart of milk in Marion will increase from 10 to 11 cents

Dairymen estimated approximately 9000 quarts of milk are sold daily in the city This would mean that a one-cent increase would add approximately $2700 a month to the city's cost of bottled milk exclusive of purchases of cream and dairy products which also probably would be affected

The dairymen after hearing the farmers demands arranged to meet tonight at 6 30 at the office of Charles H Isaly who was not present last night to prepare a formal answer

Although the farmers did not say in their parley with dairy operators what the result would be if the price demands are not met directors of the association readily said when approached individually that a milk strike is their only leverage to force the increase if dairymen refuse to grant it amicably

What Producers Ask

The farmers headed by Leo J Cusic as president of the Marion County Milk Producers association informed dairymen at the opening of last night's meeting that they are demanding $2 40 a hundred pounds (46 quarts) for milk to be sold in bottles and 50 cents more than four times the Chicago 92 score butterfat price a hundred pounds for all milk sold for use other than bottling At present the Marion county price to farmers is $2 01 a hundred pounds for bottle milk and four times the Chicago 92 score butterfat price for milk used in the manufacture of dairy products

After dairy operators asserted they could not meet this demand the farmers held a brief caucus and announced that they will demand their increase proposal only for the month of August and will meet next month with dairymen to work out a revision of prices for milk to be used in manufacture of dairy products if conditions at the end of August justify a change However they indicated they expect to receive $2 40 a

MANSFIELD BARRED TO SECOND TERMERS

Mrs Allman Notifies Judges and Prepares To Shift 391 to Columbus

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O July 29—Mrs Margaret Allman state welfare director notified judges of all county courts today that no more second term offenders regardless of their ages could be received at the Mansfield State reformatory

"The state law clearly states that only first offenders can be admitted to the reformatory and effective immediately we will comply with the law" she said This means that many youths who have previous criminal records face imprisonment in the Ohio penitentiary but under the law we have no alternative

Mrs Allman said a survey at the reformatory disclosed 391 prisoners who had previous criminal records Those prisoners she said will be transferred to the Ohio penitentiary as rapidly as possible

In order to make room for the gradual absorption of the Mansfield second termers at the penitentiary 123 penitentiary prisoners are being moved this week to the London prison farm the director said

Mrs Allman said youths with previous criminal records had been sent to the reformatory because of error or lack of information on the part of sentencing officials

"Under the law any prisoner who has a previous criminal record either in Ohio or any other state or who is a parole violator may not be sent to Mansfield" she said "I am sending letters to all county officials … were explaining that part of the law."

Many School Failures Due To English, Social Science

282 Pupils Failed Last Term in One or Both Subjects, Marion Survey Shows

English and social science are bugaboos to school pupils especially all Marion's junior high school pupils

A survey made by Supt C A Hudson and made public in the annual report on promotions and failures lists the two subjects as being responsible for the greatest number of failures particularly in the junior high schools

Two hundred and eighty two pupils in the junior and senior high schools "flunked" one—maybe both—subjects last year reports compiled from the Thomas A Edison Central and Vernon Heights junior high schools and Harding high school show

The percentage of failure for all the elementary schools was identical with last year the percentage of failures in all subjects in the junior high schools was 7 … or 5 of one per cent higher than the preceding year In the high school subjects at the Thomas A Edison school the percentage of failures was 12 and at Harding high school 1 … less than last year the report shows

The highest percentage of failures was in the first grade amounting to 15 2 per cent of the 535 pupils enrolled 14 per cent less than a year ago "but apparently still too high" according to Mr Hudson Between the fifth and sixth grades

Sheriffs and Police Checking Connection With West Mansfield Crime

An abandoned automobile believed to have been used by two armed bandits who held up a West Mansfield bank Monday noon was found on a county road two miles west of Green Camp late yesterday and was in the hands of county authorities for investigation today

The automobile which had been stripped of its license plates answers closely the description of the bandit car Deputy Sheriff W H Willis and Police Capt F L Reardon were taking fingerprints from windows and other parts of the machine this morning and were joined at noon by Sheriff Dailey of Logan county who will assist in the investigation

The car was found about 4 p m yesterday by J H Bauder of the Green Camp-Essex pike on a crushed stone road running along the rear of his farm He became suspicious of the machine he said when he noted that it was without license plates and reported his discovery to the sheriff Deputy Willis answered the call and had the car towed to the Ed C Walters Ford garage here

The automobile is a black 1930 Ford coach The bandit car was the same model and was reported to be either gray or dust covered black Streaks of dirt mark the machine found yesterday indicating that it had a heavy coating of dust on it before Monday night's rain partially washed it

Among articles found in the car were a pair of women's gloves a handkerchief and a heel from a woman's shoe The motor number was checked with the bureau of motor vehicles at Columbus as part of the procedure authorities are taking to locate the owner While it is probable the car was stolen authorities said that angle had not yet been checked at noon.

If the fingerprints taken today are clear when developed they will be sent to the London prison farm where experts will determine if they match any of those of persons with criminal records

SUIT EXPECTED WITHIN WEEK

Action Decided On As Next Move Against County Board's Program

CHECK OF POLL MADE

Inaccuracies Alleged, Fate of One-Room Schools at Stake in Controversy

The Marion township board of education at a meeting last night with its attorneys decided on court action as its next step in an effort to halt the redistricting program of the county board of education

It is expected a suit will be filed in common pleas court within the next week or 10 days in which the township board will seek to set aside the county board's boundary changes which shifted four portions of the Marion township district to other school districts nearby

The Marion township board mapped its plans after completing a checkup on a poll of affected areas made by the county board to determine the effect of remonstrances signed by rural residents who sought to revoke the boundary changes

Inaccuracies Alleged

Some township board members contend the poll is not entirely accurate and that possibly three or four transfers affecting the township district might be revoked by a correct poll

The township board has questioned both the poll and some steps in the procedure followed by the county board of education in making the boundary changes several weeks ago

If the township board is successful in its efforts to set aside the boundary changes it will continue to operate its six one-room buildings the last little red school buildings in the county As matters now stand, three of the six one room buildings will be closed next term by the county board's transfers

The township board's plan to start court action is the latest development in a controversy over boundary changes that dates back to May 10 when the county board held a public hearing on its proposals to make transfers Changes then proposed were criticized by rural residents

The board explaining it felt obligated to proceed with redistricting in line with the state's program of bringing up enrollment in rural schools by consolidations voted seven boundary changes principally affecting Marion and Grand Prairie township districts The Grand Prairie changes and two affecting Marion township were revoked by remonstrances signed by a majority of the electors living in the affected area leaving four transfers of portions of Marion township district effective at present

The Marion township board is represented by J Malcolm Streitz

SMALLER PWA JOBS LAUNCHED

Roosevelt Allots $22 742,034 for 352 Projects in 37 States

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON July 29—A new style public works administration program veering away from the type of huge structures financed during the last three years was set under way yesterday by President Roosevelt with an allotment of $22 742 034 for 352 projects in 37 states

Announcing that in addition to the 45 per cent donations PWA would lend another $211,000 to help communities defray their remaining 5 per cent of the cost Secretary Ickes PWA chief said relief labor would be used exclusively in carrying out this start on the third program for the agency

11 States Omitted

Another 450 projects involving federal donations of about $33 000 000 are still under study by the President to whom they were submitted three weeks ago Eleven states were left out of yesterdays list of allotments

In contrast to the $1 000 000 allotment several years ago to the Triborough bridge in New York City and other structures requiring heavy outlays for materials and years for completion the largest project approved yesterday was a $1 835 400 courthouse building in New York City—of which the federal cost is $ 175 030

Demands Speed

With many projects approved three years ago not completed and in some cases barely started the President ordered that all under the new program be commenced by Oct 1 1936 reach a peak by the end of the year and completed by Oct 1 1937

In the smaller size of the projects (the average grant is $61 723) the small number of loans and the emphasis on relief labor the new program presented important changes bringing it nearer the works progress administration type of construction favored by Mr Roosevelt

Freak Egg Laid by Hen Owned by Marion Man

Maybe it was the eternal feminine urge to do something just a little bit different and then it may have been the influence of Peltier's comet that caused a hen at the home of Harry Hoch of 254 Edwards street to present her owner with a freak egg in the Sunday gathering

The egg had a notion to stick to normalcy and then went comet with the result that it has a tail which gives it the appearance of a cross between a gourd and a sea shell

Mr Hoch with a glance at the thermometer said today he would keep the egg for a little while and then dispose of it and that he is not going to set it to see what kind of a chicken would hatch The hen seems the least excited of all about her craftsmanship and goes about her duty of adding to the family egg basket with a business as usual attitude he relates

WHEN SLEEP EVADES YOU

Inability to sleep insomnia is a disease of the nervous system although you may have no pain or other evidence of suffering

It may be caused by over*exertion or mental exhaustion* —and frequently is—but treatment should be administered only upon the advice of a physician Don't attempt to drug yourself to sleep or to request a druggist to give me something to make me sleep" for neither you nor he knows the underlying cause of your inability to sleep

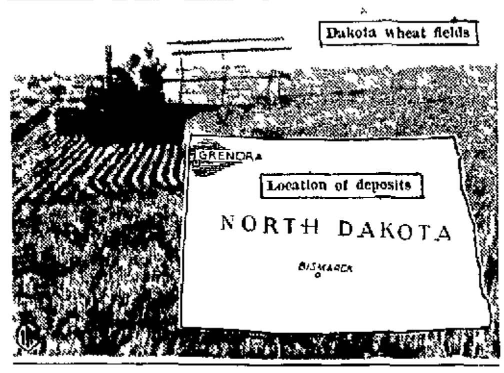
Drouth Effects Not All Damaging to N. Dakota

Death Valley mineral beds



Dakota wheat fields

By F DAVID VORMELKER
International News Writer

BISMARCK N D—In alter an old platitude it is an ill sun that doesn't shine on someone's good fortune The state of North Dakota stricken as it has been by the scorching heat of the sun and the lack of rain is standing upon the threshold of the development of a new industry within its borders

In the parched and cracked lake beds in the northwestern part of the state several large and many *small valuable deposits of sodium sulphate have been found by chem*ists and engineers working in cooperation with the chemical engineering department of the University of North Dakota

Steps will be taken to surface mine these mineral deposits for commercial use and to sell as a cash crop just as the wheat growers of North Dakota formerly grew wheat on their large sections of ground This year it is unlikely that much wheat if any will be produced by the state of North Dakota Prior to the drouth cycle this state produced as much as one eighth of the entire wheat production of the United States each year

Drouth Not Total Loss

Sodium sulphate known to chemists as Na2 SO4 is sold on the market in three different forms anhydrous sodium sulphate salt cake and Glauber's salt It is used in one or the other of these forms as the raw material for many things now in common use such as rayon various textiles glass other chemicals and paper Glauber's salt is used extensively in the production of cathartics and is the form of sodium sulphate that contains water

The sodium sulphate deposits found in North Dakota have been estimated to include 20 000 000 tons of Glauber's salt They have all been found in the beds of lakes that have no drainage outlet and are usually fed by small streams Now exposed by process of evaporation the brine cakes and salt crystals are easily available

The railroad facilities near the new found mineral deposit are convenient for quick transportation to Grenora where a plentiful fuel and water supply would make it possible to operate a dehydrating plant

Authorities believe that additional deposits may be discovered elsewhere in the state and possibly in some of the other states now affected by the drouth

New Deposits Discovered

This most recent discovery of a mineral deposits seems to indicate that the natural resources of the United States still have value beyond comprehension Only a few weeks ago the Geological Society of America announced the discovery of vast borax beds in the Mojave desert in southern California that at the present market value are worth $350 000 000 The borax beds are in a basin one hundred feet in depth and four miles long by one mile wide

Borax has been removed in great quantities from Death Valley in California for many years under the most trying of conditions especially the excessively high temperature The quantity of borax in the Mojave desert plentiful enough to last the United States one hundred years will be more easily obtainable

In the face of great discouragement the farmers helped by science before now stand in a position to be aided again through the searches and discoveries of chemical engineers whether it be a new method of scientific farming or a crop that doesn't have to be grown but is there for the taking

SURVEY SHOWS CAUSE OF PUPILS' FAILURES

the percentage of failures was highest in the third grade 13.2 per cent. In the elementary grades the sixth showed the lowest percentage of failures amounting to 6 per cent of the 561 pupils in all the sixth grades

The reason for the large number of failures in the first grade Mr Hudson said is that children enter school with mental ages not equivalent to their chronological ages and they are not ready for the first grade work They should scarcely be termed failures he said but the fact that they do not succeed in their studies must be considered in an annual report

The number of subnormal children scattered throughout the schools and the heavy pupil teacher load account for the high percentage of failures in all elementary grades Mr Hudson pointed out A survey made in one of the schools last year revealed some 20 children who were definitely classed as subnormal and a year ago a similar survey at another of the schools showed that 36 children from the third to the sixth grades inclusive were definitely under the average mental standard for boys and girls of their age

An ideal number of pupils for each public school teacher is between 33 and 35 according to Mr Hudson but in one Marion school last year curtailed expenses which prevailed throughout the school system made it necessary for one teacher to instruct 42 pupils in one room Most rooms in the Marion schools last year averaged 40 pupils per teacher

Mr Hudson pointed out that the three schools referred to in which the number of subnormal children was large and the pupil teacher load too heavy headed the list in high percentage of failures

The Forest Lawn Greenwood and Pearl street schools had the highest percentage of promotions the report shows The percentage of pupils promoted at those schools follows Pearl 93.6 per cent Greenwood 9[illegible]5 Forest Lawn 93.3 At the M[illegible] street school the percentage of promotions was [illegible] lowest in the school system

DECISION ON MILK PRICE DUE TONIGHT

Report Dissatisfaction

[illegible] per cent

[illegible] or wheat feeds

All [illegible] dairy operators [illegible] the milk or milk for manufacture their principal arguments [illegible] at the price the farmers are asking for milk to be used in manufacture of daily produce

Dairymen State Position

Operators of dairies that deal principally in bottle milk and cream and do not manufacture ice cream and other products were especially critical D F Montgomery operator of the Ideal dairy one of this classification asserted he would lose 41 cents a hundred pounds for all milk not sold in bottles if the farmers demands were met He explained he is obliged to carry approximately a 10 per cent surplus of raw milk over actual sales to insure an availability of milk for unexpected demands and that his loss on milk not sold in bottles would present a serious problem

Mr Cusic asserted the farmers now [illegible] sell their milk to a condensing plant at Prospect for more than they receive from dairies but did not like to break away from Marion dairies which are their logical outlets for raw milk

Why he asked should we sell the milk to Marion dairies for less money than we could get at Prospect?

Mr Montgomery countered with a question Why should I agree to pay farmers more for milk than I can get out of it if I don't sell it in bottles?

Recalls Former Prices

Mr Issler urged dairymen to recall times in the past when dairies paid farmers prices like $2.88 and $2[illegible] a hundred pounds for bottle milk and said in view of those former prices the present demands for $2.40 are reasonable

Mr Montgomery replied I remember those prices—but we were selling more milk then and we got our money for it I used to sell 100 to 150 half pints of whipping cream every Sunday but now it's a good day if I sell 20 half pints

Mr Cusic speaking for the farmers said he understood some dairies are selling milk that contains 4.4 per cent butterfat—considerably richer milk than the 4 per cent milk they advertise on their milk bottle caps I think the very fact that some dairies are furnishing richer milk than they're required to is an indication that there is more of a spread (margin of profit) than there should be for the dairies he said

We're asking for the same prices Columbus is to get the first of the month Mr Cusic declared

A brief argument followed about the relative cost of producing milk in the Columbus and Marion areas

When the talk swung back to price figures Mr Cusic asserted farmers now are getting 10 cents less than butterfat prices for milk sold for use in manufacture and added There's no excuse for that with the other markets (Prospect condensery) bidding for our milk

W T Owens another farmer producing milk for Marion dairies asserted that farmers a number of years ago received 56 per cent of the consumer's dollar but now gets only around 5 per cent of it I don't think we should be expected to produce milk at a loss he said

Milk price increases are being made in many cities as a result of the drouth increasing the farm cost and cutting his production of milk Mr Issler said following the meeting He said cities in which prices have increased or will be increased Aug 1 include Youngstown Canton Warren Alliance Akron Cleveland Cincinnati Dayton Springfield Columbus and Chillicothe In most of these places the price is being advanced from [illegible] to 11 cents a quart although in some of them 11 and 12 cent price forms [illegible] quoted are being advanced [illegible]

MARY ASTOR FIGHTS TO REGAIN DAUGHTER

picture people goggle eyed and gasping

Dr Thorpe was the first witness

Within five minutes he retorted sharply—to a question of why he had allowed Marylyn to remain with Miss Astor after the divorce

because I thought and hoped she would be a good influence on her mother

In her complaint Miss Astor charged she was coerced into giving Dr Thorpe an uncontested divorce when he threatened to scandalize her publicly His answer was that she was guilty of gross immoral conduct

The attorney Roland Rich Woolley then began digging into the story of Dr Thorpe's [illegible] with other women in the month after the divorce last year

Asks About Nurses

He asked about temporary nurses the father said he employed for the baby when her regular nurse was having her day out and wanted to know if on frequent occasions they didn't stay in the house overnight?

Never said Dr Thorpe They never did

Woolley introduced in evidence three snapshots that Dr Thorpe said had been taken in his back yard They showed Norma Taylor a full blown blond and in an affectionate embrace with him

Now didn't you have some trouble with Miss Taylor on one occasion Woolley went on A little disturbance at the house?

Dr Thorpe replied that one night late last year he and the girl had tussled He was unable to recall the exact date Asked to describe it he said

Well she had been to a cocktail party and she called up while Marylyn and I were having dinner I could tell she was intoxicated so I told her not to come to the house But she did anyway She forced her way in So I called the police and they took her away

Inquires About Tussle

Oh that wasn't all was it Dr Thorpe Didn't you wrestle with her first—in Marylyn's presence

No she came into the dining room and I told the nurse to take Marylyn to her room Then I took Miss Taylor by the wrists and escorted her to the hall by the front door She tried to grab a silver candlestick and smash a window She was intoxicated

As a matter of fact you'd had a few too hadn't you? the lawyer probed

No Then the police came

tell me...why are they MILDER...why do they TASTE BETTER

Well, first off, all cigarettes are not alike . . . not by a long shot.

Now Chesterfields . . . they are milder because they are made of mild, ripe tobaccos . . . both home-grown and Turkish.

They age these tobaccos for two years to take out all harshness

These tobaccos are not only blended but cross-blended . . . this brings out the better taste of each tobacco It welds the different flavors into one better flavor. It helps to make Chesterfields taste better.

When you smoke a Chesterfield you realize they're not like others . . . They Satisfy.

BY HELEN ROWLAND

AND THAT'S WHY WE LOVE THEM

Many a loving wife spends her whole life trying to understand a man's idiosyncrasies—and ends by being thankful if she can just remember them.

She can read all the popular books on "behaviorism" and still be completely at sea about the Human Paradox whose grapefruit she fixes every morning and whose tuxes she lays out twice a day.

For instance, a man will talk for hours about his digestion, draw diagrams of his liver, give you an itemized account of his dentist and glowingly describe just how it felt when he had ptomaine poisoning, but he will be embarrassed to blushes when you mention his soul.

He will contribute to three orphan asylums, send Christmas gifts to 200 employes, keep flowers on his mother-in-law's grave the year around—and then go about turning out the lights to save expense complaining that the laundry bills are ruining him and wondering why you can't wear lisle-top stockings.

He will buy nothing but antiques with a history, medieval tapestry and books with rare bindings — yet his very dearest possession may be a yellow hound of mixed and uncertain lineage, and his taste in women may run to [illegible] ladies and hatcheck girls.

He may vow that he likes his whisky straight and his women [illegible], and then spoil his wife's [illegible] by going gaga over [illegible] whose earrings [illegible] of her collar blades [illegible] whose green eyes have the [illegible] lure.

He may marry a woman who is beautiful and accomplished, a brilliant wit, a skilled bridge player, the president of three clubs and the most popular woman in town.

Yet, if an old college mate asks him what sort of a woman he married, all he can do in the way of describing the Paragon is to say that the way she cooks a waffle or broils a steak is nobody's business.

He knows, almost without looking, every time his secretary changes the color of her stockings. But the wife of his bosom can change the shade of her hair several times a year, and if she's clever about it, he will never wake up to the fact until some sweet neighbor informs him that she's gradually going blond.

He will let a woman censor his friends, his diet, his pleasures, his haircut, his tailor and his religion—and then suddenly lose his taste for her because she doesn't admire his singing or laugh at his jokes.

In short, a man is the soul of inconsistency and the world's greatest paradox. And no woman who takes up the study of one man in a serious way need ever join a quiz club for diversion. She can get all her surprises right at home!

Only the rashest of mortals will risk the unknown. A tumble over Niagara in a barrel, for instance, or a stratosphere flight. Few of us are willing to rush in where angels fear to tread. We seek precedent for our every move—in the food we eat, in the clothes we wear, in the places we go.
The advertisements in this paper are the signed credentials of firms which seek your business. They are not only letters of introduction, but pledges of faith. You may accept them because they mean that a lot of people have bought before you—and have been satisfied.
Before you run downtown, run down the list of things offered every day in the advertisements. See what interests you . . . what meets your needs without burdening your budget. Check and choose before you get out the car or signal a bus.
Combing the advertising pages in advance is a labor-saving, leather-saving device. In short, the people who regularly read the advertisements are getting the most for their money. And that's good business, any way you look at it.

"I haven't the faintest. I just came this morning. Do you?"

"No, but I've got a list of prospects. After lunch we might go on a hunt."

The search was not encouraging. The first house on Carol's list was filled; the second frowned on them as they went up the walk.

It was a beautiful shell of a house with boxwood bordering the walk and paint flaking from the Doric columns.

"It looks sort of bleak," Ellen whispered.

Carol shrugged. "Twelve foot ceilings and black walnut Empire furniture and a two foot grate in each room. I know its kind by heart."

She was right. The house and its owner gave off the sick sweet odor of decaying gentility. They made a quick escape.

Carol looked thoughtful. "What do you say to hunting a place that's commoner and has steam heat?"

"Suits me if you think our social position can stand it."

In the end they found a house on the street leading to the high school, a nondescript house that lived for the present and cast no longing glances over its shoulder. The landlady was youngish and friendly and intentionally blonde. She had two vacant rooms, she said, a large one at twenty dollars a month and a smaller one of fifteen. They inspected the rooms, both as nondescript as the house but light and with apparently adequate heating and engaged them at once.

The living room Carol noticed in passing was discouraging: gilded cat tails in a pottery jar, a chromo of Notre Dame de Paris with mother of pearl windows, an ungainly cabinet radio blaring unheeded jazz. All it needs, she thought, is Venus with a clock in her stomach. But after all it wasn't her living room and she wouldn't be using it.

Mrs. O'Connor followed them to the porch where a little girl of eight or nine sat on the steps sort[illegible]

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Rhinitis

Rhinitis is the medical term for any inflammation of the interior of the nose. It is often confused with nasal sinusitis. At times it is mistaken for an attack of asthma or hay fever.

The victim of rhinitis complains of difficulty in breathing and perhaps has repeated attacks of sneezing. He suffers from a constant and annoying discharge which may be watery or thick and heavy.

There is a sensation of fullness in and about the nose and forehead. This symptom may become severe, actually painful. In an acute case the face is flushed, the eyes are red and breathing is possible only through the mouth.

The patient may believe he has a cold in the head and resorts to the usual home remedies. But rhinitis is more than a cold.

Caused by Germ

It may follow exposure to cold and wet, but in the last analysis it is caused by a germ. At times the infection and inflammation may persist over a long period of time. When this happens the condition is spoken of as chronic rhinitis.

It is during the early stages of the disease that every effort should be made to bring about relief. At the beginning of a cold the simple but effective remedy is a hot bath taken just before bed time, followed by the taking of a glass or two of hot lemonade. In the morning upon arising a saline purge will be useful.

Treatment for the inflamed tissue will be given by your physician. Often it becomes necessary for the treatment to be continued for a long period of time. It is important to have this because neglect will lead to chronic rhinitis.

Chronic rhinitis is a stubborn and often difficult condition to cure. Like other chronic infections of the body, it leads to a general lowering of the resistance and increases the susceptibility to other infections.

It is important not to overlook the fact that many cases of rhinitis are caused by certain defects and abnormalities of the nose. A crooked and deviated septum, the partition between the two nostrils, as well as nasal sinusitis and nasal polyps, may lead to inflammation of the passages of the nose. To bring about a cure these defects must be corrected.

The nasal passages are important part of the body. They must be kept clean and free of germs. Their infection and inflammation are definite hindrances to good health.
